- 2) Friday, April 27, 2018 – Three Sisters Hall, Ottawa
“Tree Biomechanics & Management: Why We Should Care & How to Execute It

Registration
Deadline:
April 16, 2018
Space is Limited!

Day 1: “Getting to the ROOT of the Issue”: Can you imagine an entire day discussing the practical aspects of roots.... I can! Come experience what I saw from 1977 through the present, excavating more than 3,000 tree root systems in eastern North America. There will be photos, videos, specifications, strategies & lots of discussion of how to manage roots!

Day 2: “Tree Biomechanics & Management”: This workshop is packed full of advanced information on pruning. Ever wondered how and why most trees remain intact while others break apart? Prune at planting? I thought we didn’t do that – I will show you the way! Pruning plays a major role in a tree’s longevity & advanced pruning techniques have a great impact on how the tree responds to gravity, wind and storms; Nursery stock specifications will be described, with examples; Tree Preservation strategies: develop an easy-to-use system of pruning trees of any age that is simple to teach to customers and staff; Writing pruning specifications: how to access, modify, and write pruning specifications.
